Village Farms International Provides Further Update on Nasdaq Trading Halt – Confirms Submission of Paperwork for DRS Eligibility

Vancouver, BC, March 6, 2019 – Village Farms International, Inc. (“Village Farms” or the “Company”) (TSX: VFF; NASDAQ: VFF) is providing a further update regarding the recent halt in trading of its common shares on the Nasdaq Stock Market (“Nasdaq”). As previously reported, Nasdaq recently advised Village Farms that its common shares were not part of the Depository Trust Clearing Company DRS/DWAC system, which is a mandatory requirement for listing on Nasdaq. At the time of the Company’s application to Nasdaq, the Company provided Nasdaq with information generated from a third-party which incorrectly confirmed that Village Farms’ common shares would be included in the DRS/DWAC system at the commencement of their trading on Nasdaq.

Village Farms has now taken the appropriate steps to correct this situation. An application for DTC Eligibility has been filed on Village Farms’ behalf. Upon approval, Village Farms’ shares will be DTC Eligible, and included in the DRS/DWAC system. This will remedy the deficiency in listing requirement. It is the Company’s expectation that its shares will resume trading on Nasdaq upon approval of its DTC Eligibility application.

Village Farms’ common shares continue to trade on the Toronto Stock Exchange under the symbol “VFF”.
